

Privacy Policy

With respect to maintaining the confidentiality of customer data. We respect the desire of everyone to remain anonymous and take all necessary measures to protect the personal information of customers. Any personal information provided by the client is used only to place an order for services and provides conditions for their renewal.

1. Collection of personal information

When registering on the company's website, we ask you to provide personal information to the extent necessary for the provision of services. We offer ourselves the right to exclude additional personal information if necessary.

Cookies. When placing users on the site, we send one or more cookies to your computer or other device. Cookies are used to improve the quality of food: user settings.

Visit Information – Information about visits is automatically recorded. These logs are reporting information: request to the server, visitor IP address, visitor information, date and time of the request.

Sale of services on partner sites - some of the services we offer are carried by other sites. The personal information you provide to such sites may be shared with us in order to provide those services. We calculate information about such a form in accordance with this privacy policy.

“ONLINE CLOUD SYSTEMS LIMITED” may process personal information about servers in all countries.

2. Providing access to information

We found access to the personal data of other companies and appearance, only within the following limits of the identified signs:

We have your permission for this. Your confirmation is required for the transfer of any confidential information.

The registry requires that information about the registrant's domain names be published in the whois system. In connection with this address, name, patronymic, address, zip code, telephone, e-mail

For this you need:

1. receiving any possible results, rulings, confirmations of the legal process or a valid request from public authorities;
2. identification of identified cases of service delivery, including case detection;
3. detection and prevention of fraudulent activities, as well as solutions to security problems and coverage of problems;
4. protection from discovery of the consequences of the occurrence of a danger to the decisions, property or safety of "ONLINE CLOUD SYSTEMS LIMITED", the provider's customers or claims, as required or permitted by law.

3. Information security

We accept all necessary games to protect customer data from unauthorized access, modification, security or protection. These measures include, in particular, verification of the processes for collecting, storing and processing data and security measures, including encryption and measures to ensure the physical security of data to prevent unauthorized access.

4. Access to personal information and its updating

We do our best to choose to access the personal data we have and either correct it if it is not correct, delete it upon request, unless its retention is not required or does not contain legitimate business authorities. Before processing documents, we ask users to verify their identity and the information they want to receive, correct or delete.

5. Changes to this privacy policy

This privacy policy is subject to change from time to time. Changes to privacy watchdogs are posted on this page.